CAPTURING LIFE THROUGH THE LENS

■ A photograph by Sajal Ghosh.

Be it Siem Reap, Cape Town, or Kolkata, the street is the site of action for a photographer. 'Journey... Through Lenses' is an exhibition of photographs that brings to fore some of these actions through the lenses of Sajal Ghosh.

Sixty such photographs from various parts of India and abroad have been displayed on canvas and archival canvas print medium at the exhibition at Birla Academy of Art & Culture.

It has photos of a wide variety: of a folk dance group performing in Cape Town, South Africa, of an old man sitting on a chair facing a large seal on the road, of a lady bent and engrossed in making a patachitra work in Pingla, of a child in Kolkata feeding a pigeon perched on his hand, of an old foreigner cheerfully looking at pigeons gathered at a street corner. HTC
